

Dear Customer,

October is a busy month and now we are heading towards Christmas, lots of publishers will be releasing their big Christmas titles this month. We have a lot of exciting additions across all of our general ranges, as well as a huge list of Christmas titles. We couldn't fit everything into this letter so make sure to have a look at the extra enclosed sheet for all the festive titles coming this month.

Let's start with our October highlights -

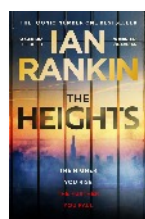

The Book of Man - Z Noir - PB - 15138 - £9.99

Kevin Previn returns to his native Glasgow after 10 years following the death of his dear friend, the author of The Book of Man. This story follows a personal journey taken by Previn as he discovers what he really left behind. The American Library Association chose this novel as one of the best books of 1995, it is a cult Scottish novel and will be a fan favourite for even more generations to come.

The Heights - Orion - HB - 14582 - £25

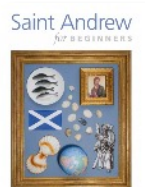

Ian Rankin is an iconic bestseller and his new release this year is another gripping thriller for your customers to dig into this month. Set in a high-end high-rise over Hyde Park, there has been a murder and all the wealthy residents are suspects. In a world where prying eyes are kept out, detective Gillian Gish must find a way past the residents power and wealth to find out who the real killer is, or are the rules different at the top?

Light on Dumyat - Rowan Tree - PB - 15223 - £7.99

Light on Dumyat has been enjoyed by many generations of children and is a loved adventure novel set in the Scottish countryside. We are also excited to announce that we are now the exclusive distributors for Rowan Tree, so make sure to have a look on our website for a full list of their publications including the rest of their children's novels which are a popular choice for younger readers.

EXC

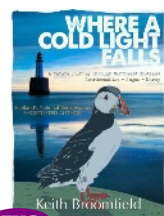

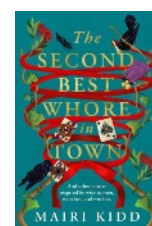

Saint Andrew for Beginners - Rowan Tree - PB - 47726 - £7.99

Rowan Tree also have a wonderful 'for beginners' series to highlight for all your customers looking to learn more about Scottish topics, they are all illustrated and put together in an easy to understand format. In this book, the life of Saint Andrew is explored from his beginnings to how he ended up becoming the patron saint of Scotland, making it a good starting point for your customers.

The Second Best Whore in Town - Black & White - HB - 15231 - £14.99

A new title by Mairi Kidd will be available this month, featuring a collection of nine new short stories of survival rebellion and magic. She brings to life women both historical and imagined from Scotland's past and puts their stories front and centre, refusing to allow them to be footnotes in the tales of men. This will be a new favourite for lovers of historical fiction and Scottish fiction who like to go on fierce journeys with the characters.

Where a Cold Light Falls - Tippermuir - PB - 15201 - £11.99

Following the success of Wild Edinburgh, If Rivers Could Sing, A Scottish Wildlife Odyssey and more, Keith Broomfield has written about another wildlife journey, which will be available this month for your customers to enjoy. Keith has explored wild places in the northeast of Scotland for 40 years and in this book he revisits old haunts and discovers thrilling new habitats. An insightful read for those who love Scotland's nature and wildlife and want to explore more secrets of its mountains, woods, rivers, lochs and coast.

Who's There Little Pumpkin? - Boxer - BB - 15099 - £8.99

This board book is the perfect Halloween title for young readers to enjoy. Filled with interactive fun, join Bashful Bat, Giggly Ghost and Wacky Witch as they reveal Who's There! This is the perfect addition for all 'peek-a-boo' play and will be a new seasonal favourite for family fun.

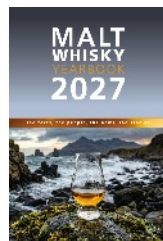

Make sure to have a look at all of our Halloween range on our website now!
